DETAILED ACTION

Double Patenting

1. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

2. Claims 1-7, 23-36, 40, 41, 43-48 are provisionally rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-14, 23-29, 46, and 47 of copending Application No. 09/736,023. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because a method of trapping insects comprising using a particulate composition vs. particles comprising at least one magnetic material in an electromagnetically sensitive material which includes strontium ferrite vs. a magnetic material; a cockroach affecting composition/pesticidal composition in particulate form which includes electromagnetically sensitive particles with a magnetic material which includes strontium ferrite vs. a core being impregnated or coated with a magnetic material; an insect trap having a composition comprising a magnetic material in the electromagnetically sensitive particles which includes strontium ferrite vs. a composition including particles comprising a magnetic material of opposite polarity to that of the magnetically polarized material.

This is a provisional obviousness-type double patenting rejection because the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

4. Claims 23-30 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In regard to claim 23, line 1, the phrase "In an insect trap which comprises a housing" renders the claim vague and indefinite since it fails to properly set forth the present invention since the phrases "a zone of the housing or a zone within the housing" further modifies the structure of the trap in such a way that the zone is not necessarily "in" the trap but could also be "on" the trap. The preamble should be rewritten as "An insect trap which comprises a housing..." by deleting "In".
